

Vestige

SNIPES MOUNTAIN

Half a century ago, Alfred Newhouse recognized the potential of Snipes Mountain. Through hard work and a tenacity matching the mountain, under the name Upland Vineyards, he succeeded in covering its slopes with acres of lush and vibrant vineyards. Grapes from the mountain have been part of Washington wine for almost one hundred years.

"Vestige" is dedicated to Alfred. Like windswept footprints between the rows, his spirit lives on in the vineyards, on the mountain, and in our memories.

Vestige (n): archaic – footprints; remnants or traces of what has gone before
