

Jeff Cohn CELLARS

A stunning pink coral color exuding wild strawberry aromatics with a touch of raspberry, anise, and floral notes. On the palate, this rosé is exuberantly fresh, lively and thirst quenching with texture and richness, which focuses on strawberries, fennel, and touch of minerality. The perfect accompaniment for time at the pool, front porch or backyard get togethers with friends or just treating yourself. A perfect match up with Spring and Summer fare. Will age gracefully in the Cohn Zone: drink now - 2028.

This shows a lot of character and minerality for rosé, especially coming from a high-elevation site. It's gutsy and food-friendly, with enough weight to drink in winter as well as summer. Medium-bodied and lightly tannic, with good acid balance and earthy, plummy, crunchy flavors.
